DEATH TAKES DIRECTOR IN CITY AFFAIRS

Wm. S. Cryder, Business Man and Sportsman, Dies Here Saturday Night.

Death on Saturday night claimed another of Circleville's promient citizens when Sennet Cryder, known sportsman, golf enthusiast and business man, died at home in N. Court-st at 9:45
m. after an illness of a week
in acute peritonitis.

Mr. Cryder, familiarly known as "Pop" Cryder, was not a native of Circleville but during his residence here had taken an active part in community life and had done
more than his share toward the betterment of the city.

In 1910 Mr. Cryder came to Circleville from Chillicothe and entered the business of meat packing with his brother-in-law, the late R. Hosler, serving as secretary and treasurer. He retired from business shortly after the death of Mr. Hosler and since then has been engaged in various enterprises in and around Circleville.

MANAGER OF FARM.
He owned and managed a farm Wayne-twp. and was an active member of the firm of Donohue & Cryder, insurance brokers, located in the Bales building, in Main-st.

Active in a number of civic activities, Mr. Cryder served as a member of the board of county commissioners and was on the board of directors of the county home.
Possibly no other man in Circleville did more toward the erection of the new Elks' home than Mr.
Cryder. He served on the house committee for years and had been a member of practically every important committee in the club connected with the erection of the new club house.

UNBORN COUNTRY CLUB.
The same can be said of his activities in regard to the Pick-away Country club. Here again
he urged the Country club idea into the minds of the leading Thomases of the community and since it has been secured he has also done much toward the furnishing of it. Being an enthusiast, he has enjoyed the fullest the course at the club during the past summer.
He was also a member of the Elks' club.

Cryder was born in Chillicothe, Ohio, Jan. 11, 1865, and was the son of Jacob and Elizabeth (Overman) Cryder. He never married and was survived by two sisters, Miss Cryder, who resided with and Mrs. W. R. Hosler, also residing here.

FUNERAL TUESDAY.
Funeral services for Mr. Cryder will be held at the late home, 597
N. Court-st at 2 p. m. Tuesday.
Burial will be in the Elks' cemetery.
The officiating will be by Rev.
C. C. Chappellear, pastor of the Methodist church.

Bearers will be Cary Brown,
T. Gilmore, Chas. Schulz, Parrett, Jr., Chas. Weaver, Courtright, Circleville, and Yost and William Sulzberger, Chillicothe.

Members of the Circleville lodge are requested to meet at the home at 7:30 p. m.
Monday from where they will go to the Cryder home to pay their last respects to their dear brother.

Those who wish to view the body are invited to call at the home at any time before the hour of the funeral.

ME CHAPPELEAR
C. C. Chappellear, of Circleville, was named by Senator McCrady to the committee to name
the Ohio senate. Senator McCrady was elected president pro tempore of the organization meeting Friday.

EDITOR CLUE IS UNCOVERED

Missing Kingston Newspaper and Editor to Have Been in South.

Believed to be headed for the south, Chillicothe police are not making any search of the Scioto river for the body of Merrill Valentine, 21, editor of The Kingston Tribune, who disappeared Thursday about noon after sending his bride of five weeks a note saying his body would be found in the river.

Latest information from Chillicothe-Hillsboro branch of the Cincinnati bus line took a man to Hillsboro who answered the description of Valentine. The driver said he purchased a ticket to Cincinnati, according to the Chillicothe police department.

Valentine was a good swimmer and it was not considered likely that he would attempt suicide by drowning.

The young editor, who purchased the Kingston Tribune from Paul Johnson, of Circleville, last month, is said to have been deeply worried over financial troubles
since Saturday.

Valentine's 12-year-old bride,
Opal, with whom he eloped to Kentucky, is at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Reid, at Ashville, on the verge of a collapse, it is said.

4 ORGANIZATIONS TO PROVIDE TREE

Circleville will have a community Christmas tree this year,
through the efforts of four local organizations, and treats will be given to the poor children as in former years by Santa Claus.

The tree will be placed on the lawn at the court house.
The Rotary club will put up the tree, the local post of the American Legion will decorate it, and it will be lighted by the Ohio Utilities Co.

The presents this year will be given out by the Circleville Order of Elks.

SUSPECTS IN ROBBERY HELD

Two Colored Men Captured by Officer McCrady in Freight Car After Theft.

Two colored men are being held in the county jail awaiting the grand jury on charges of breaking and entering into the home of
J. J. B. Woods, Rosewood-ave.

The men are: Randolph Washington, of Pennsylvania, and Everett Lee Good, of Harrisburg,
Va. They were given a hearing
Saturday before Mayor B. T.
Hedges, who fixed their bonds at $1,000 each.

The two were arrested by Officer William McCrady Saturday morning in a freight car near the Mid-West Box Co. shortly after the report was received by the department.

Woods reported to the police department Saturday morning that someone had entered his house, and
took an overcoat, four boxes of
honey, a loaf of bread and a gold
watch. The watch was later found
in another part of the house where
it evidently had been dropped by
the men.

When they were arrested they
had in their possession the over-
coat, a raincoat and a breast pin,
all belonging to the Woods, according to police.

The men entered the house
through a side window which could not be closed tightly as radio wires
were put under the window. Before finding the unlocked window,
the men broke a small glass in the front door and failed to unlock the door with a screen door
hook.

At first the men stated the
goods had been given them by
other men but a confession was
made, police claim.

CASH REGISTER IN GARAGE IS STOLEN

Someone early Sunday walked
away from the Circleville Motors
Co. S. Court-st with a 100 pound
cash register with about $28.75 in cash in the register.

The register was taken while employees were fixing the fire in the basement. The register is valued at $300, employees said.

THREE HEIRS OF STEVENSON LOSE IN CASE

Indiana Court Reaffirms Decision Upholding Sale of Land
by Pickaway Farmer.

An important decision has lately been handed down by the Indiana court of appeals growing
out of the will of John Evans, who
was a resident of Ross-co, Ohio,
and who died many years ago,
leaving a large land estate in
several counties of this state and
also a large tract of land in Tippecanoe-co, Indiana.

The latter tract containing
some 1600 acres, passed under his
will, ultimately to his nephew, Job
E. Stevenson, late of Pickaway-co,
Ohio, for and during his life, and
at his death, to the heirs of his body, surviving him.

LAND IS SOLD
Several years ago Job E. Stevenson, who was then married,
and had one child, a daughter,
Mrs. George W. Cable, sold and
conveyed the Indiana lands to several purchasers, his wife, and his daughter, who at that time was
unmarried, joining with him in these conveyances.

Mrs. Stevenson subsequently
died, and Mr. Stevenson remarried
and three children were born to
them, all of whom, with the
daughter by his first marriage,
survived him at his death which
occurred in 1921, at the advanced
age of 90 years.

The three children, who were
then all minors, soon after the death of their father, through
their guardian, commenced action
against the several purchasers of
the Indiana lands, in the circuit
court of Tippecanoe-co for the recovery of their three-fourths share
of these lands.

The purchasers disputed their
claim and stubborn suits resulted.
The purchasers who were in possession under their several con-
veyances from Job E. Stevenson
and his oldest daughter, claiming,
among other defenses, that the
doctrine of merger applied, and
that the three daughters, who
were not born until after these conveyances had been made, were
barred and estopped from any
right to these lands.

DECISION RE-AFFIRMED
The suits were consolidated and
tried in the circuit court of Crawford-co, to which they had been transferred and were decided
against the plaintiffs. The cases
were taken on error to the court
of appeals where they were heard
and the judgments of the lower
court were reversed, and on motions of the defendants for a re-
hearing, that court, on a full review and re-examination unanimously offered its former decision.

Abernethy & Simkins, with the assistance of Joseph P. Ross and William Mitchell of Lafayette, Indiana, represented the plaintiffs.
The defendants were represented
by quite a number of able lawyers of Lafayette and Indianapolis, Ind.

BEWARE OF DOOR PEDDLERS IS ADVICE TO LOCAL HOUSEWIVES

Logical arguments against patronizing itinerant peddlers who
pass through Circleville are very clearly and forcefully given in the local community-boasting committee's ninth advertisement appearing in this issue.

For some years past, Circleville
has been infested from time to
time with "fly by night peddlers"
who are here today and gone tomorrow with no thought of conscientious service or responsibility
toward the folks who buy from
them.

There is no question about the
housewife's privilege to make purchases wherever and whenever
and from whomever she pleases.
But the woman who considers the
many advantages of buying right
here at home hesitates before she
does business with strangers.

The fellow who rings your door
bell may be either a legitimate
salesman or a rank fake. He may be a gentleman or a dangerous
crook. There is no way for the housewife to tell. And judging from the caliber of peddlers who
have come through here so far,
any woman takes a mighty big
chance in allowing some stranger
to get his foot inside her door.
Most house-to-house peddlers

$4 Shoes For 48 Hour Race

How many Circleville citizens
can remember the old walking
race held at the fair grounds in 1888, when Dude Stottlemire and Louis Palm, now deceased, started circling the quarter mile track
on their pavement pounders to
see who was the best man?

Dude won the race and Palm
finished shortly behind him after a 48-hour grind, according to the story told by Stottlemire Monday.

When asked how much he won Dude answered: "A $4 pair of shoes."

Dude said the track was 385
feet from him and they walked
day and night, lighting up the
track with torches during hours
of darkness.

PRINCE IS ON SPECTACULAR DASH TO BEDSIDE OF FATHER

Condition of George V Reported "Very Bad"—Wales
Leaves Ship for Train

BRINDISI, Italy, Dec. 10.—The Prince of Wales began a spectacular race across Europe today to the bedside of his father, King
George.

Arriving from Port Said, Egypt,
on the cruiser Enterprise, the
prince transferred to a waiting
special train which started at 12:30 p. m. for Boulogne, France.
The Enterprise anchored in the outer port at 11:40 a. m. The transfer of the prince ashore was completed speedily and the run
across Italy, Switzerland and France began.

Tracks will be cleared an hour
ahead of the train, which will be obliged to stop only to change engines. It will run through the
St. Gothard tunnel under the Alps
and across the north of France to Boulogne. There a British destroyer will take the prince across
the channel to England. He should be in London about noon
on Wednesday.

LONDON, Dec. 10.—A bulletin
issued before noon today by King
George's physicians said:

"Although the king passed a disturbed night, there has been
some fall in the temperature this morning. There is also a slight improvement in the general condition. Anxiety, however, must continue."

A palace official told the United Press today that while the king's condition momentarily was not
critical, it was considered that
"things were very bad."

Early callers at the palace included the Duke and Duchess of York, Princess Mary and her husband, Viscount Lascelles, Sir William Joynton-Hicks, home secretary, and former King Manuel of Portugal.

There is no doubt that the king
is somewhat worried over the
hasty trip which the prince is making from Africa to London.

CHILICOTHE, Dec. 10.—A few hours after he had been taken
to the city prison by police when
they found him in a ditch so drunk
he was unable to find his way home, Jud Graham 45, colored, of this city, died in his cell
of burns suffered in his cell.

The police say his clothing
caught fire from a pipe or cigaret.
The man made no outcry and
when smoke from his cell caught
the attention of the police on duty, his body was burned and he had unburned the flames.

He is survived by his widow and
four children.

12 DECKS SHIPPED

Twelve decks of livestock were shipped from Pickaway-co Sat-

estock Co-operative association.
Eight decks were shipped from Circleville and four from

and the arrival of the prince in London Wednesday is expected to greatly assist the king's powers of recovery.

Public anxiety is still acute, despite the reassuring nature of the exclusive statement to the United Press Saturday by Lord Dawson of Penn, physician in ordinary to the king, indicating a definite improvement in the king's condition.

OCEAN LINER IS ON ROCKS

Twenty-nine Vestris Survivors
Are in New Ocean Disaster-er Aboard Celtic

QUEENSTOWN, Ireland, Dec.
10.—The White Star liner Celtic, carrying 255 passengers from New York to Liverpool, was aground
today off Roches Point, near here.
The passengers included 29 survivors of the steamship Vestris which sank last month off the Virginia Capes.

The passengers have been landed by tenders at Queenstown. The sea was calm and there was no danger. There are 412 members of the crew still to be taken off.

First efforts to re-float the vessel, which grounded at 5 a. m., have been unsuccessful. The Dutch tug Gelze and the local tug Morisco are standing by after the failure of their first attempt to get the boat off.

The ship itself, although high on the rocks, is in no immediate danger. The Celtic grounded in the darkness, 300 yards south of Roches Point, near the Carlisle and Camden forts. The extent of the damage to the Celtic was not known. Three vessels were standing by the grounded liner.

CALF, CAR CRASH; ANIMAL IS KILLED

Sunday night a young calf foot-loosely wandered onto the Jackson-
pk. which is State Route 104, and on which there has been a steady line of machines since the Scioto trail to Columbus has been closed.
The bewildered animal escaped death by inches several times, a number of drivers said, but finally the time came when he was a second too slow, and he was knocked down by a Buick sedan driven by Mamie Schmitt of Columbus.

The animal's leg was broken and he had to be killed. The car was badly damaged and was taken to the Harry Clifton garage
for repairs.

BOLIVIA AND PARAGUAY IN BORDER FIGHT

Pan-American Congress As-
sembles in Washington
Facing Arms Threat.

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 10.—War-
talk—the first in South America
in a number of years—was general today after the breaking of
diplomatic relations between Paraguay and Bolivia over the border incident last week in which
more than a score of troops were killed.

Secret meetings of both governments were held over the weekend to decide the course of action.

Each country, in official statements, blamed the other for the
incident at Fort Vanguardia in the Chaco district, long disputed between the two nations.

Efforts at mediation so far have failed, although the hope is expressed here that subsequent offers will be accepted by both Paraguay and Bolivia.

Outwardly, the Paraguayan capital of Asuncion is calm, but the Bolivian people at La Paz have
given way to a wave of patriotism
and feeling in the crisis is at a high pitch.

CONGRESS ALARMED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Strained relations between Bolivia and Paraguay cast their shadow today
over the Pan American conference
on arbitration and conciliation as delegates of 20 republics assembled
for the opening session.

Diplomatic relations between the two countries, had been broken off
over the week-end. Bolivia on Saturday ordered the Paraguayan
charge to leave La Paz in the wake of a border clash in the disputed Chaco territory, and Paraguay followed Sunday by ordering the Bolivian charge to leave Paraguay immediately.

A Paraguayan legation statement said Paraguay's action had been forced by Bolivia's communications, while Dr. Diaz de Medina, Bolivian minister, said his country's action was caused by what he termed an unprovoked attack by Paraguayan troops, on a Bolivian
fort on the Paraguayan-Bolivian
frontier.

AMNESTY GRANTED

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Dec. 10.—Am-
nesty for all prisoners was declared by the government today in connection with the Bolivian-Par-
aguayan crisis after the border incident in the Chaco region last
week.

All political exiles will be permitted to return to the country.
Two days of fervid demonstrations have left the population of
La Paz with an intense antipathy
for all things relating to Paraguay.

All institutions and organizations
in the city were represented in yesterday's demonstrations. Many prominent women, headed by Senora Hernandez Siles, wife of the president of the republic, marched
in the parade and carried flags.
The band of 40,000 marchers en-
tended 40 blocks.

ican country Mr. Hoover has visited.

The Maryland anchored at 6:30
A. M. After an official welcome,
they immediately entrained for

QUARTET AND PINT ARE NABBED HERE

Four persons were detained at police headquarters Sunday, on investigation and one was held over until Monday morning for safe keeping.

The quartet was enroute from Columbus to Portsmouth in a
taxicab and were brought to the police headquarters by Officer William McCrady when he found a bottle with liquor in the taxi. Two
of the party, a girl and a man
were said to be intoxicated. The man was held over for safe keeping until he sobered up, while the other three were sent on to Portsmouth, which was their destination.

Since the parties departed immediately from the city no
charges were filed against them
by police.

the report was received by the department.

Woods reported to the police department Saturday morning that
in another part of the house where
it evidently had been dropped by
the men.

When they were arrested they
had in their possession the over-
coat, a raincoat and a breast pin,
all belonging to the Woods, according to police.

through a side window which could
were put under the window. Before finding the unlocked window,
the men broke a small glass in the front door and failed to unlock the door with a screen door
hook.

goods had been given them by

Someone early Sunday walked
away from the Circleville Motors
Co., S. Court-st., with a 150 pound
cash register with about $38.75 in
cash in the register.

Indiana Court Reaffirms Deci-
by Pickaway Farmer.

An important decision has late-
ly been handed down by the Indiana court of appeals growing
out of the will of John Evans, who
was a resident of Ross-co, Ohio,
and who died many years ago,
leaving a large land estate in
several counties of this state and
pecanoe-co, Indiana.

some 1600 acres, passed under his
will, ultimately to his nephew, Job
E. Stevenson, late of Pickaway-co,
Ohio, for and during his life, and
at his death, to the heirs of his

LAND IS SOLD
Several years ago Job E. Stevenson, who was then married,
and had one child, a daughter,
Mrs. George W. Cable, sold and
conveyed the Indiana lands to several purchasers, his wife, and his
unmarried, joining with him in
these conveyances.

Mrs. Stevenson subsequently
died, and Mr. Stevenson remarried
and three children were born to
daughter by his first marriage,
occurred in 1921, at the advanced
age of 90 years.

The three children, who were
then all minors, soon after the
death of their father, through
their guardian, commenced action
against the several purchasers of
the Indiana lands, in the circuit
court of Tippecanoe-co for the re-
of these lands.

The purchasers disputed their
claim and stubborn suits resulted.
The purchasers who were in pos-
veyances from Job E. Stevenson
and his oldest daughter, claiming,
among other defenses, that the
that the three daughters, who
were not born until after these
right to these lands.

The suits were consolidated and
tried in the circuit court of Crawford-co, to which they had been
transferred and were decided
against the plaintiffs. The cases
were taken on error to the court
and the judgments of the lower
court, were reversed, and on mo-
tions of the defendants for a re-
hearing, that court, on a full re-
view and re-examination unanimously offered its former decision.

Abernethy & Simkins, with the
William Mitchell of Lafayette, Indiana, represented the plaintiffs.
The defendants were represented by quite a number of able lawyers of Lafayette and Indianapolis, Ind.

BEWARE OF DOOR PEDDLERS IS ADVICE TO LOCAL HOUSEWIVES

Logical arguments against pat-
ronizing itinerant peddlers who
clearly and forcefully given in the
local community-boasting committee's ninth advertisement appearing in this issue.

For some years past, Circleville
has been infested from time to
time with "fly by night peddlers"
who are here today and gone tomorrow with no thought of con-
scientious service or responsibility
them.

There is no question about the
chases wherever and whenever
and from whomsoever she pleases.
But the woman who considers the
many advantages of buying right
here at home hesitates before she
does business with strangers.

bell may be either a legitimate
salesman or a rank fake. He may
be a gentleman or a dangerous
crook. There is no way for the
from the caliber of peddlers who
have come through here so far,
any woman takes a mighty big
chance in allowing some stranger to get his foot inside her door.

$4 Shoes For 48 Hour Race

How many Circleville citizens
can remember the old walking
race held at the fair grounds in 1888, when Dude Stottlemire and
Louis Palm, now deceased, start-
ed circling the quarter mile track
on their pavement pounders to
see who was the best man?

finished shortly behind him after a 48 hour grind, according to the
story told by Stottlemire Monday.

When asked how much he won Dude answered: "A $4 pair of
shoes."

steps from him and they walked
day and night, lighting up the
track with torches during hours
of darkness.

AUTOIST KILLED; ANOTHER JAILED

LOGAN, Dec. 10.—Funeral arrangements are being made here today for George Ford, 60, who was instantly killed when his car
was sideswiped by another machine and went over an embankment on the New Straitsville road Sunday about three miles east of Logan.

Two other persons were injured
in the accident.

William Carman, driver of the other car, is in the Hocking-co jail.

companied her.

Leaves Ship for Train

BRINDISI, Italy, Dec. 10.—The Prince of Wales began a spectacular race across Europe today to
George.

Arriving from Port Said, Egypt,
on the cruiser Enterprise, the
prince transferred to a waiting
special train which started at
The Enterprise anchored in the
transfer of the prince ashore was
completed speedily and the run
across Italy, Switzerland and France began.

Tracks will be cleared an hour
ahead of the train, which will be
engines. It will run through the
St. Gothard tunnel under the Alps
and across the north of France to Boulogne. There a British destroyer will take the prince across
the channel to England. He
should be in London about noon
on Wednesday.

LONDON, Dec. 10.—A bulletin
issued before noon today by King
George's physicians said:

"Although the king passed a
disturbed night, there has been
some fall in the temperature this
morning. There is also a slight
improvement in the general condition. Anxiety, however, must
continue."

A palace official told the United Press today that while the king's
condition momentarily was not
critical, it was considered that

Early callers at the palace in-
cluded the Duke and Duchess of
York, Princess Mary and her hus-
band, Viscount Lascelles, Sir William Joynson-Hicks, home secre-
Portugal.

There is no doubt that the king
hasty trip which the prince is

CHILLICOTHE, Dec. 10.—A
few hours after he had been taken
to the city prison by police when
they found him in a ditch so drunk
he was unable to find his way
home, Jud Graham, 45, colored,
of this city, died in the city hospital
of burns suffered in his cell.

caught fire from a pipe or cigaret.
The man made no outcry and
when smoke from his cell caught
the attention of the police on
duty, his body was burned and he
had inhaled the flames.

He is survived by his widow and
four children.

BOLIVIA AND PARAGUAY IN BORDER FIGHT

Pan-American Congress As-
sembles in Washington

talk—the first in South America
in a number of years—was general today after the breaking of
diplomatic relations between Par-
aguay and Bolivia over the border incident last week in which
more than a score of troops were
killed.

Secret meetings of both governments were held over the week-
end to decide the course of action.

Each country, in official statements, blamed the other for the
incident at Fort Vanguardia in the Chaco district, long disputed between the two nations.

Efforts at mediation so far have
pressed here that subsequent offers will be accepted by both Par-
aguay and Bolivia.

Outwardly, the Paraguayan capital of Asuncion is calm, but the Bolivian people at La Paz have
given way to a wave of patriotism
and feeling in the crisis is at a
high pitch.

CONGRESS ALARMED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Strain-
ed relations between Bolivia and Paraguay cast their shadow today
over the Pan American conference
on arbitration and conciliation as
delegates of 20 republics assembled
for the opening session.

Diplomatic relations had been broke off
over the week-end. Bolivia on
charge to leave La Paz in the
wake of a border clash in the disputed Chaco territory, and Paraguay followed Sunday by ordering the Bolivian charge to quit
Paraguay immediately.

A Paraguayan legation statement said Paraguay's action had
been forced by Bolivia's course, while Dr. Diaz de Medina, Bolivian minister, said his country's action was caused by what he
termed an unprovoked attack by Paraguayan troops, on a Bolivian
fort on the Paraguayan-Bolivian
frontier.

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Dec. 10.—Am-
nesty for all prisoners was declared by the government today in
connection with the Bolivian-Par-
aguayan crisis after the border incident in the Chaco region last
week.

All political exiles will be permitted to return to the country.

tions have left the population of
La Paz with an intense antipathy
for all things relating to Paraguay.
All institutions and organizations
in the city were represented in
yesterday's demonstrations. Many
prominent women, headed by Senora Hernando Siles, wife of the president of the republic, marched
in the parade and carried flags.
The band of 40,000 marchers extended 40 blocks.

HOOVER ARRIVES

VALPARAISO, Chile, Dec. 10.— President-elect Herbert Hoover arrived here today on his goodwill tour of Latin America.

The U. S. S. Maryland, which is carrying Mr. Hoover, entered the harbor at 6 A. M.

Chile is the third South American country Mr. Hoover has visited.

The Maryland anchored at 6:30
A. M. After an official welcome,
they immediately entrained for
Santiago, the Chilean capital.

Four persons were detained at
police headquarters Sunday,
on investigation and one was held
over until Monday morning for
safe keeping.

The quartet was enroute from Columbus to Portsmouth in a
taxicab and were brought to the
police headquarters by Officer William McCrady when he found a
of the party, a girl and a man
man was held over for safe keeping until he sobered up, while the
other three were sent on to Portsmouth, which was their destination.

Since the parties departed immediately from the city no
charges were filed against them

A. SCHLEYER IS

plendid Tribute Paid To Deceased Business Leader by Rev. Toensmeier.

In the death of the late G. A. Schleyer last Tuesday night, Circleville lost one of its most respected residents. His death came as a shock to his friends, of whom there was a host, both personal and business. This fact was manifest in the number of gorgeous floral offerings which filled the great rooms at the Schleyer residence.

Many persons who attended the last rites of Mr. Schleyer on Friday came away with the feeling that they had just heard a very remarkable funeral sermon, which had been preached by the Rev. Emil S. Toensmeier of the Presbyterian church.

Among other thoughts the sermon contained were: "Number one, and see who is gone from us. To man, especially a man of genuine worth and character, can live more than half a century in one community and not be missed when death claims him or his own."

"Of Mr. Schleyer it can be said he lived in a house by the side of the road, and was a friend to man."

Rev. Toensmeier also spoke of his splendid career as a banker and of the service he offered in his capacity to the residents of Circleville and that more persons appreciated him since he was gone.

Hoyt's Brought New Health After Five Years Of Suffering

AIRVIEW LADY CALLS
HOYT'S COMPOUND "HEALTH
FOOD FOR THE ENTIRE SYS-TEM."

Wilder's Drug Store, Circleville, Ohio, is rapidly becoming known as "The store where Hoyt's Compound is being introduced." Great numbers of letters of praise for his great medicine are pouring in to Wilder's every day.

MRS. ELIZABETH SIBRELL

Five years ago Mrs. Sibrell was victim of the flu which was a common disease at that time. This left her a physical wreck. She tried many different kinds of medicines in the past five years, but nothing helped her till she tried Hoyt's. She states:

"Hoyt's Compound ended FIVE YEARS OF CONSTANT SUFFERING for me. I suffered a severe attack of the flu in 1923 and left me a PHYSICAL WRECK. I suffered from a disordered stomach. Bowels were very irregular and severe pains shot through my back due to deranged kidneys. I steadily lost weight and grew extremely nervous and irritable due to the fact that I didn't get proper rest. I would lie awake OURS AT A TIME worrying over my physical condition. I tried many different kinds of medicines during the five years but nothing gave me any relief. I first heard of Hoyt's Compound by reading where a friend of mine had endorsed it. At first I was skeptical. Why shouldn't I be? After trying all those other medicines with no more good than I had been with. Then I began using where other local people are praising Hoyt's and I thought maybe this medicine is DIFFERENT. I made up my mind to try this medicine as a last resort. The first FEW DOSES gave me relief. I am now in good health and I am happy. My appetite has improved and my stomach is in the best condition it has been in for years. My bowels are regular, kidneys normal and I am no longer troubled with those terrible pains through my back. I am no longer nervous and I can now go to bed and sleep sound through the night. Too much praise cannot be given to this great blood, stomach, and system tonic. In fact it is LIKE A FOOD that nourishes the entire system."

The Hoyt man is in person at Wilder's Drug Store, Circleville, Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings meeting crowds of health seekers who call there to see him and learn about the compound.—Ad.

Variety of Christmas Merchandise
Found In Crist Department Store

Unique and Utility Gifts For Every Member of Family Are Offered.

Christmas shoppers Saturday afternoon and evening in Circleville were more than pleased with the goods on display in the local stores. The third floor at Crist's is the Mecca for young sons and daughters and their mothers and daudies. For there is a very complete line of toys for all ages of children. One of these for the very small is a darling little Peter Rabbit car, which any child would delight to own. Then the dolls are the joy of every little girl who sees them.

There are the baby dolls that are so natural looking with their cinderella caps and jackets and bald heads. Also this year the little girl dolls have staged a comeback. They have real hair with bangs and smart hair cuts. There is one beauty with regular Greta Garbo eye lashes.

On this floor at Crist's there is an arrangement of the toys of one price on one long table, and those of another on a different table. This facilitates shopping for both the customer and clerk. There is an airplane that winds up and sounds like a real motor.

An indoor putting set at a reasonable price is a good thought for the growing youngsters who will become interested in golf. The pool tables for the home are ideal for a family with a number of children. They can all enjoy the game, providing the parents can be persuaded to stop playing long enough for it is fun for every one.

Some crawling beetles and snails make cute small gifts that will enliven Christmas morning and start the dog or cat walking briskly around the tree. Some different Christmas frosted-covered wreaths and Christmas tree ornaments are also found on the third floor.

One of the outstanding gifts on the second floor is a black chalice coolie coat with borders of colorful stenciling. Here also are many practical gifts in underwear—rejoice chemise and combinations and a number of handsome night gowns at reasonable prices.

Other gifts can be bought there such as bandeau sets, crepe de chine slips and lace trimmed step-in chemises. Other articles that make appropriate presents are bed spreads in a large variety and

On the first floor at Crist's, in addition to the usual line of dry goods, is found a variety of Christmas merchandise. This consists of hand bags, musical powder boxes, square hats and a full line of hosiery. One navy blue leather purse with three lines of a lighter blue for trimmings is especially smart.

Shoppers have the opportunity here of looking around and seeing a fine assortment of goods at all prices before buying, and will receive many suggestions for gifts for their friends and families.

EARLY MAILING IS POSTAL REQUEST

Circleville Postmaster Makes His Second Call For Prompt Posting.

With the approach of Christmas, George P. Foresman, local

postmaster, has issued his second call to the people to shop now and mail early for early delivery. The post offices will make every effort to handle the Christmas mails without congestion and delay, but owing to the enormous volume this can be done only with the co-operation of the public. All parcels must be securely wrapped or packed and strong paper and heavy twine should be used. Articles easily broken or crushed should be crated or securely wrapped and must be marked plainly, "Fragile." Addresses should be complete and name of street, post-office box, or rural route number, and typed or plainly written in ink. A return card should be placed in the upper left corner of every piece of mail.

Dear Santa

Dear Santa Claus:— Please bring me a cowboy suit, pump gun, and owl set, football, pop corn balls, candy, a new pair of shoes, some story books with animals in it, a dump truck and a dog. I have been a very good boy Santa Claus, so don't forget me. Leland Siegwald.

Dear Santa Claus:— Please bring me a new pair of shoes, dog, football, pump gun, cowboy suit, some story books with pictures of animals in it, pop corn balls, candy and an owl set. I have been pretty good this year Santa Claus that's why I'm asking for so much. Please don't forget me and my brother. Paul Siegwald.

Dear Santa:— Will you please bring me a doll, a two-wheeled bicycle and a pair of skates. You may give me anything else if you please. Yours truly, Betty Weiler 215 N. Washington-st.

Dear Santa Claus:— I am a little boy in the second grade. I would like for you to bring me an electric train, an electric movie picture machine, a basketball, a pair of gloves, a pair of house slippers, a pair of high top slippers, and lots of nuts and candy and hoping you will bring me all of this that you can. It is bed time, so good night. George Eylar.

Dear Santa:— I am a little boy 3 1-2 years old. I would like to have a drum, machine and a pair zippers and some candy and oranges. Your little friend, Willard Eugene DeLong, 1234 S. Pickaway-st, Circleville, Ohio.

Dear Santa:— Will you bring me a little sewing machine, a writing desk, cradle and a doll, you don't need to bring me so much candy because it makes me sick. Your little friend, Sarah May DeLong, 1234 S. Pickaway-st, Circleville, Ohio.

Dear Santa:— I am a little girl ten years old and live between Circleville and Ringgold. I would like to have a nice big doll, a pair of stockings and any other little presents you would like to bring me. But be sure to bring my doll. From Frances Brokaw To Santa.

Dear Old Santa Claus:— I am a good little boy. Would like to have a drum and tractor and plow and would like to have a wagon, and bring candy and nuts. Please don't forget mother and daddy. Chester L. Dyke, Williamsport, O. R. D. '2.

Dear Santa Claus:— I would like to have a new pair of shoes, a pair of skates, a new dress, a drawing set, a scarf and gloves. Wishing a Merry Xmas and a happy new year from Betty McGinnis to Santa.

SHUN PEDDLERS

(Continued from Page one) vacuum cleaner. When the cleaner arrived, she received a copy of the paper she signed which showed that she had actually signed up an order to BUY the cleaner! There's no need for conscience on the peddler's part. All he is interested in is to get the order and collect his commission. The company takes care of the "making her pay" part. All sorts of wild promises are made by the salesman without a possible chance to their being lived up to. Your home town merchant, on the other hand, is here every day of the year. He knows that in order to hold your business and good will, he must sell you dollar-for-dollar values and appreciate your trade. He cannot afford to even think of peddler methods in his relations with customers. When questions of adjustment come up, he is always willing and fair in his dealings.

Also—what does the peddler contribute toward the comfort or advantages of you and yours? Absolutely nothing. He takes your money and that's the last of him. The merchant, on the other hand, pays taxes that go to maintain the town government, schools, streets, roads, etc.—things from which you benefit directly. He makes contributions in movements for the public good. He is helping to build a better Circleville. Be loyal to him who has your interests at heart.

Your merchant has invested time and money in order that you may have the conveniences of his service. It is only right, then, that we all reciprocate by being loyal to our own local merchants who have the town's interests at heart and—who give you better values for your money.

FARM BUREAU GETS NEW MEMBERSHIPS

This showed that one man out of every four called upon joined the organization.

Twenty-seven teams started out Friday morning to canvass the county for new members, each team taking a definite route to cover.

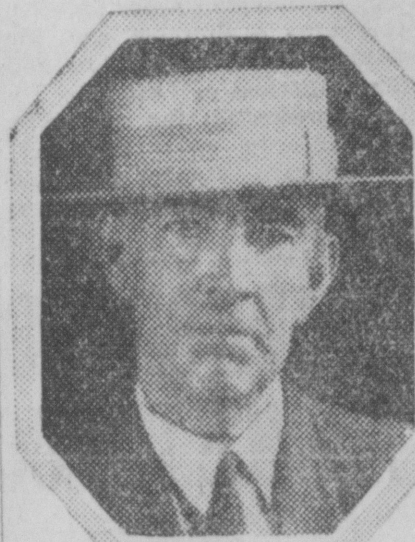

In the joint drive of the Pickaway and Fayette-co teams in Fayette-co, 29 new members were signed for the Fayette-co organization.

MONTHLY MEETING

The members of the board of the Pickaway-co Livestock Cooperative Association held their monthly meeting at the farm bureau home Saturday night to check over the business of the month of November. This month's business was the largest ever handled by the livestock organization. J. B. Stevenson is president of the board.

Was So Ill He Had To Quit His Work—Feels Ten Years Younger.

MR. J. W. ROONEY

Konjola's claim to fame is that it succeeds when all other remedies and treatments have failed. Take the case of Mr. J. W. Rooney, news agent, 16 East Court street, Cincinnati, for instance.

"I feel ten years younger," he exclaims, "and I owe my restored health to this wonderful Konjola. For more than three years I had constipation, indigestion and rheumatism, and absolutely nothing touched my case. I got so bad I could not work. I was full of pain and poisons, and was deeply discouraged. A friend recommended Konjola, and exactly four bottles of this amazing compound made a well man of me. I can eat and digest anything; am back on the job, and the way Konjola has built me up is almost beyond belief. After what Konjola did for me I am eager to tell the world that it is, indeed, what it is called—the master medicine." Thus Konjola works—quickly—and the results that Konjola brings come to stay.

Konjola is sold in Circleville, O., at Mykranz pharmacy drug store, and by all the best druggists in this city and vicinity.

Greater Volume Now Brings Lower Price on the New Frigidaire

The unprecedented public acceptance of the New Frigidaire has resulted in the greatest increase in volume in the history of the business.

Quiet operation, surpassing beauty and lasting economy have further increased an already overwhelming preference of buyers everywhere.

This tremendous volume has resulted in further production economies. In accordance with the fixed policy of General Motors these economies are being passed on to the public.

Savings as great as $90

We therefore announce a sweeping reduction in the prices of household models, amounting to as much as $90, effective December 10th.

A comparison of Frigidaire value, with any other electric refrigerator will emphasize the importance of this further reduction of prices. We are glad to make this announcement at the present time for it will enable many additional thousands of homes to have the advantages of Frigidaire Automatic Refrigeration for Christmas.

The New Frigidaires, and details of prices and terms are now available at Frigidaire display rooms everywhere.

After the Candles Have Burned Out...

The many little gifts of sentiment that bespeak friendships and happy associations are vital to the spirit of Christmas.

But after the candles have burned out, after ordinary gifts have been laid aside, then the Maytag will more and more reveal itself as the outstanding gift—practical, helpful, a joy for years to come.

Plan together for this practical gift—the Maytag. Let it be the crowning, lasting remembrance of the yuletide.

ONLY MAILING IS POSTAL REQUEST

Circleville Postmaster Makes His Second Call For Prompt Posting.

postmaster, has issued his second call to the people to shop now and mail early for early delivery.

The post offices will make every effort to handle the Christmas mails without congestion and delay, but owing to the enormous volume this can be done only with the co-operation of the public.

All parcels must be securely wrapped or packed and strong paper and heavy twine should be

Addresses should be complete and name of street, post-office box, or rural route number, and typed or plainly written in ink. A return card should be placed in the upper left corner of every piece of mail.

Dear Santa

Dear Santa Claus:—
Please bring me a cowboy suit, pump gun, and owl set, football, pop corn balls, candy, a new pair of shoes, some story books with animals in it, a dump truck and a dog.

I have been a very good boy Santa Claus, so don't forget me.
Leland Siegwald.

Dear Santa Claus:—

Please bring me a new pair of shoes, dog, football, pump gun, cowboy suit, some story books with pictures of animals in it, pop corn balls, candy and an owl set.

I have been pretty good this year Santa Claus that's why I'm asking for so much. Please don't forget me and my brother.
Paul Siegwald

Dear Santa:—

Will you please bring me a doll a two-wheeled bicycle and a pair of skates. You may give me anything else if you please.
Yours truly,

Betty Weiler
215 N. Washington-st.

Dear Santa Claus:—

I am a little boy in the second grade. I would like for you to bring me an electric train, an electric movie picture machine, a basketball, a pair of gloves, a pair of house slippers, a pair of high top slippers, and lots of nuts and candy and hoping you will bring me all of this that you can.

It is bed time, so good night
George Eylar.

Dear Santa:—

vacuum cleaner. When the cleaner arrived, she received a copy of the paper she signed which showed that she had actually signed up an order to BUY the cleaner!

There's no need for conscience on the peddler's part. All he is interested in is to get the order and collect his commission. The company takes care of the "making her pay" part. All sorts of wild promises are made by the salesman without a possible chance to their being lived up to.

Your home town merchant, on the other hand, is here every day of the year. He knows that in order to hold your business and good will, he must sell you dollar-for-dollar values and appreciate your trade. He cannot afford to even think of peddler methods in his relations with customers. When questions of adjustment come up, he is always willing and fair in his dealings.

Also—what does the peddler contribute toward the comfort or advantages of you and yours? Absolutely nothing. He takes your money and that's the last of him. The merchant on the other hand, pays taxes that go to maintain the town government, schools, streets, roads, etc.—things from which you benefit directly. He makes contributions in movements for the public good. He is helping to build a better Circleville. Be loyal to him who has your interests at heart.

Your merchant has invested time and money in order that you may have the conveniences of his service. It is only right, then, that we all reciprocate by being loyal to our own local merchants who have the town's interests at heart and—who give you better values for your money.

FARM BUREAU GETS NEW MEMBERSHIPS

Twenty-six new memberships were secured by the Pickaway-co farm bureau in their joint drive with the Fayette-co farm bureau in Pickaway-co, Friday.

This showed that one man out of every four called upon joined the organization.

Twenty-seven teams started out Friday morning to canvass the county for new members, each team taking a definite route to cover.

In the joint drive of the Pickaway and Fayette-co teams in Fayette-co, 29 new members were signed for the Fayette-co organization.

MONTHLY MEETING

The members of the board of the Pickaway-co Livestock Cooperative Association held their monthly meeting at the farm bureau home Saturday night to check over the business of the month of November. This month's business was the largest ever handled by the livestock organization. J. B. Stevenson is president of the board.

G. A. SCHLEYER IS PRAISED IN RITES

Splendid Tribute Paid To Deceased Business Leader by Rev. Toensmeier.

In the death of the late G. A. Schleyer last Tuesday night, Circleville lost one of its most respected residents. His death came as a shock to his friends, of whom there was a host, both personal and business. This fact was manifest in the number of gorgeous floral offerings which filled the great rooms at the Schleyer residence.

Many persons who attended the last rites of Mr. Schleyer on Friday came away with the feeling that he had just heard a very remarkable funeral sermon, which had been preached by the Rev. Emil S. Toensmeier of the Presbyterian church.

Among other thoughts the sermon contained were: "Number now, and see who is gone from us. No man, especially a man of genuine worth and character, can have lived more than half a century in one community and not be missed when death claims him for his own."

"Of Mr. Schleyer it can be said 'He lived in a House by the Side of the Road, and was a Friend to Man.'"

Rev. Toensmeier also spoke of his splendid career as a banker and of the service he offered in this capacity to the residents of Circleville and that more persons appreciated him since he was gone.

Hoyt's Brought New Health After Five Years Of Suffering

FAIRVIEW LADY CALLS HOYT'S COMPOUND "HEALTH FOOD FOR THE ENTIRE SYSTEM."

MRS. ELIZABETH SIBRELL

Mrs. Sibrell whose picture appears above is one of the latest residents of this vicinity to send in her endorsement for Hoyt's Compound.

Five years ago Mrs. Sibrell was a victim of the flu which was a common disease at that time. This left her a physical wreck. She tried many different kinds of medicines in the past five years, but nothing helped her till she tried Hoyt's. She states:

"Hoyt's Compound ended FIVE YEARS OF CONSTANT SUFFERING for me. I suffered a severe attack of the flu in 1923 and it left me a PHYSICAL WRECK. I suffered from a disordered stomach. Bowels were very irregular and severe pains shot through my back due to deranged kidneys. I steadily lost weight and grew extremely nervous and irritable. Due to the fact that I didn't get my proper rest, I would lie awake HOURS AT A TIME worrying over my physical condition. I tried many different kinds of medicines during the five years but nothing gave me any relief. I first heard of Hoyt's Compound by reading where a friend of mine had endorsed it. At first I was sceptical. Why shouldn't I be? After trying all those other medicines with no more good than if I had been water. Then I began hearing where other local people were praising Hoyt's and I thought maybe this medicine is DIFFERENT! I made up my mind to try this medicine as a last resort. The first FEW DOSES gave me relief. I am now on my second bottle and I am rapidly gaining my health."

"My appetite has improved and my stomach is in the best condition it has been in for years. My bowels are regular, kidneys are normal and I am no longer troubled with those terrible pains through my back. I am no longer nervous and I can now go to bed and sleep sound throughout the night. Too much praise cannot be given to this great blood, stomach and system tonic. In fact it is MORE LIKE A FOOD that nourishes the entire system."

The Hoyt man is in person at Wilder's Drug Store, Circleville, Ohio, Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings meeting crowds of health seekers who call there to see him and learn about the compound.—Adv.

Variety of Christmas Merchandise Found In Crist Department Store

Christmas shoppers Saturday afternoon and evening in Circleville were more than pleased with the goods on display in the local stores. The third floor at Crist's is the Mecca for young sons and daughters and their mothers and daddies. For there is a very complete line of toys for all ages of children. One of these for the very small is a darling little Peter Rabbit cart, which any child would delight to own. Then the dolls are the joy of every little girl who sees them.

There are the baby dolls that are so natural looking with their elderdown caps and jackets and bald heads. Also this year the little girl dolls have staged a comeback. They have real hair with bangs and smart hair cuts. There is one beauty with regular Greta Garbo eye lashes.

On this floor at Crist's there is an arrangement of the toys of one price on one long table, and those of another on a different table. This facilitates shopping for both the customer and clerk. There is an airplane that winds up and sounds like a real motor.

An indoor putting set at a reasonable price is a good thought for the growing youngsters who will become interested in golf. The pool tables for the home are ideal for a family with a number of children. They can all enjoy the game, providing the parents can be persuaded to stop playing long enough for it is fun for every one.

Some crawling beetles and snails make cute small gifts that will enliven Christmas morning and start the dog or cat walking briskly around the tree. Some different Christmas frost-covered wreaths and Christmas tree ornaments are also found on the third floor.

One of the outstanding gifts on the second floor is a black challis coolie coat with borders of colorful stenciling. Here also are many practical gifts in underwear—reynon chemise and combinations and a number of handmade night gowns at reasonable prices.

Other gifts can be bought there such as bandeau sets, crepe de chine slips and lace trimmed de chine chemises. Other articles that make appropriate presents are bed spreads in a large variety and

On the first floor at Crist's, in addition to the usual line of dry goods, is found a variety of Christmas merchandise. This consists of hand bags, musical powder boxes, square scarfs and a full line of hosiery. One navy blue leather purse with three lines of a lighter blue for trimmings is especially smart.

Shoppers have the opportunity here of looking around and seeing a fine assortment of gifts at all prices before buying, and will receive many suggestions for gifts for their friends and families.

Housewives! Which Benefit You Most?

Guard yourself against the wiles of the peddler. Too often, there is great disappointment in the goods bought. Or the housewife finds herself unsuspectingly "tricked" into a greater obligation than she contemplated. Or she never hears anything more after her "first deposit."

The peddler WANTS YOUR DOLLAR—that's all. There is no need for conscientious or honest service on his part.

On the other hand—

Your merchant is here in Circleville to stay. He knows that he can succeed only by gaining your confidence and good will—by selling you quality merchandise at honest prices, and, nine times out of ten—if you'll make value comparisons—you'll find his goods just as cheap and generally cheaper than the usual peddler "trash."

Your merchant is interested in your welfare. The taxes he pays and the contributions he makes help to give you and your families advantages that make for physical, educational, moral and civic progress.

Play fair with your merchants. They have invested heavily in Circleville because of their confidence in you. Keep that confidence intact by purchasing at home—where you get the most for your money.

We, the undersigned, Believers in Circleville, heartily endorse the above:

THE POVERTY OF WEALTH

"Our wealth has made us rich and left us poor, and it has increased our power and destroyed our peace."

This statement comes from a report adopted by the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension of the Methodist Episcopal church. Coming, as it does, on the heels of 6,000,000 share days in the stock exchange, it seems rather timely.

We have grown into a rather peculiar attitude in the past decade. Despite the fact that a good many citizens have had to go hungry at various times in that period, we have been, on the whole, very prosperous. Gorgeous new buildings have shot up in every city. The number of automobiles has increased tremendously. The radio has come into existence as an added luxury for the ordinary man. Movie theaters have grown orate as grand opera houses.

All of this has given us a warped outlook. We have fallen into the habit of judging everything on a hard cash basis. No more do we respond to appeals to our idealism or our altruism. The man we will follow is the man who can tell us how we shall get more money in our pockets. We gauge our progress in dollars. We believe that we have advanced greatly because we are vastly richer than we used to be—and if anyone dissents we put him down as a bolshevik.

Now, most refreshingly, an organization of churchmen raises its voice to remark that there are other standards than the money standard. It suggests that there may even be more important things than prosperity.

Heresy, of course. Yet it is quite possible that the American people, in steadily-increasing numbers, will come to adopt such attitudes in the near future.

Although Europe has called us a nation of dollar-chasers for generations, we are not and never have been, a materialistic people. From the very beginning Americans have been idealists and visionaries. Our entrance into the World war, for instance, may have been, at bottom, a matter of money; yet the support of the people as a whole was won by appeals to the intangible values—liberty, democracy, freedom.

Even since the war we have been content to follow the dollar. But the pendulum will swing the other way. We shall discover, in due time, the truth of this remark of the churchmen—that we can be vastly rich in money but lamentably poor in the things that are most worth having.

When that day comes we shall realize that material prosperity is a means to an end, and not an end in itself.

YOUR PLACE IN WINTER

Spring and summer are the favorite periods for people to improve their home places, and many of them look below par through the winter. Woody gardens blasted by frost, fallen leaves, bare shrubs showing the need of trimming, collections of ashheaps and rubbish in the back yard, are common winter sights in most places.

The housewife usually has to sweep her home about every week or oftener, but her man often thinks the home place will go all winter without any combing and tending. And yet people have eyes to see in winter, just as much as in summer, and defects are apt to be more visible then. Clean-up week should be every week in the year.

THE MISANTHROPE'S CHRISTMAS

Christmas is a coming in
And I don't care at all,
I won't see a holly wreath
Or light the candles tall.

I've no kith and I've no kin,
Just a bachelor bum
Christmas is a coming in?
Hooray, let her come!

I will dine on Christmas day
At some good hotel,
I'll not be invited out,
Know no one that will.

Makes no never minds to me
Whether Santa knocks,
I've got lots of neckties and Lots of winter socks.

Christmas is a day of joy?
All right, let it be?
I'll be joyful all day long
Visiting with me!

CHRISTMAS GIVING

Once there was an earnest young man who believed whatever people told him.

He believed that anybody told him, but most particularly what women told him. And very especially what Gussie told him. He believed that Gussie was the most beautiful, the most loveable and the most desirable girl the world had ever known. She hadn't exactly told him these things, but she had sort of left a general impression. One way or another, she told him plenty, and he believed it all.

It was two weeks before Christmas. The papers were telling how many shopping days there were left, and people were saying, "My land, I can't believe that Christmas is here," and people were making gift lists and discrediting from weakness, and all that, and Ernest (his name was Ernest) went to call on Gussie.

No, she said, she didn't care particularly to go out that night. It meant doing the same old things in the same old way, and was a needless expense. She didn't believe, she said, in people throwing money away foolishly and anyway, it was pleasanter to sit at home by the fire.

Just like that. It was an old line, but Ernest took it all in. He didn't know that Gussie was leading up to something. Girls, she added, were becoming nothing but gold diggers, trying to get as much as they could out of men. She guessed she was too old fashioned. She preferred staying home with a book, or helping mother, to all of these wild parties, and an evening's pleasant conversation with a good friend, she said, looking at Ernest, was the finest thing in life.

Some girls, she continues idly, were nothing but wolves at Christmas time. They wanted the most expensive gifts that could be bought, and they would accept them from men who were mere acquaintances, not even good well friends like lots of girls had. For herself, all she desired was, say, a little bunch of violets or a single rose bud. It wasn't the gift it was, she said, pulling a new one, the spirit of the giver.

And Ernest went home uplifted. Never for a moment did he doubt her.

Ernest was no short guy. He had the means and the entire willingness to give Gussie an outlay of gifts that would boom her like a motion picture actress, but has been mentioned before, he believed what the ladies told him. "She's too fine a girl," sezze, "to accept expensive presents from any man. I know where I can get a pretty decent string of pearls for twenty thousand, and there is a new imported car for only fifteen thousand—that's a whip, but no. She would scorn me," he said.

So he sent her a bunch of violets. And as it happened, Gussie was telling the cold truth, a bunch of violets was exactly what she wanted.

This last is the fairy story.

ALL THAT WE ASK

Peaks of Desire

by Kane O'Day

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

JERRY DUNN, star reporter on a large newspaper, meets Ann Tremaine, debutante daughter of a wealthy banker. He convinces her of the emptiness of the life she is leading, and takes her to live at his boarding house. There she is projected into a new world of people. She is immediately attracted to Steve Harrison, a husky young pugilist. Jerry warns her of this but she cannot put Steve out of her mind. When she gets a job as ticket seller in a local theatre owned by a Greek, Nick Pagalos, Jerry congratulates her on her good fortune. He tells her he cares for her, but she admits she is not in love with him. The next evening she walks home from the theatre with Steve Harrison. On the way he is approached by Maizie Thompson, who accuses him of having broken a date with her. He is rude to the gaudily-dressed girl, and shoves her out of the way. Ann tries to persuade him to go back to her, but she knows in her heart that she is not sincere about it.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XIX.

SO swift, so vehement was Ann's advice to Steve that he looked at her suddenly, astonished at the energy she had put into her voice. She was aware incidentally that she had been betrayed into a strange burst of feeling, an uprush of something oddly resembling jealousy.

For your own good, I wouldn't go back to a girl like that," Ann said hastily.

"I'd be a sap, wouldn't I?" he agreed.

She wanted him to understand that she looked upon his affairs dispassionately.

"You don't appear to be a very good judge of women—it might be a good idea to leave them alone altogether. That is, of course, until you find the right girl some time far off in the future."

"I might not know she was the right girl even if I did find her." "Oh, you'll know her all right and she'll know you're the right man, too. There won't be any mistake about it on either side when the time comes. It may take years. So if I were you I wouldn't bother looking for—for anybody."

"The trouble is she might be O. K. with me, but I mightn't register with her myself."

He laughed. "Sympathy! Say! A big guy like me, why should any girl sympathize with me?"

"She would," Ann declared. "You'd stir up her maternal feeling just because you are so big and—well, I wouldn't say helpless, exactly—but you can understand what I mean. Most probably she'll love you because you'll need somebody to fuss around you and take care of you."

"I need that right now," Steve said. "At least I would like it if you could pick the girl."

"It's better to wait," Ann said vaguely.

They passed a small neighborhood restaurant where only a few people were at the tables—a quiet, home-like sort of place.

"Maybe you'll stop in here and get something with me?" he urged. "You have been working at the theatre tonight and you might like a sandwich or something."

She shook her head. "I'm sorry but I promised Mr. Dunn I would meet him tonight and go out somewhere."

"Oh! Obviously he was unhappy. Gee, I hate to let you go tonight. You know what I mean? There's things I'd like to talk over with you."

"Don't kid yourself. You're the first girl I ever met that didn't seem to be nailing me a line. Most of them think about themselves strictly. I don't know why—but I got a feeling if you was to advise me and tip me off I might know now to—well, be a different sort of guy. Do you think I might make something out of myself?"

"Of course, you could," she told him sympathetically.

"I think I could make good money in the ring—the kind of dough they pay these days to guys that can take it and box a little clever at the same time. You ain't got nothing against the ring, have you?"

"Not at all."

He spoke with a certain easiness but she was aware it was a struggle to express what he meant. The effort made a scowling pool between his brows.

"This guy Dunn, I hate," said slowly, "why can't you see him some other time? Couldn't you get out of your date with him and spend an hour or so with me?"

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

"I'm not so good at giving advice," Ann smiled.

"Don't kid yourself. You're the first girl I ever met that didn't seem to be handing me a line. Most of them think about themselves strictly. I don't know why, but I got a feeling if you was to advise me and tip me off I might know now to—well, be a different sort of guy. Do you think I might make something out of myself?"

"Of course, you could," she told him sympathetically.

"I think I could make good money in the ring—the kind of dough they pay those guys—guys that can take it and box a little clever at the same time. You ain't got

got nothing against the ring, have you?"

"Not at all."

He spoke with a certain easiness but she was aware it was a struggle to express what he meant. The effort made a scowling pool between his brows.

"This guy Dunn," he said slowly, "why can't you see him some other time? Couldn't you get out of your date with him and spend an hour or so with me?"

"I'd be a sap, wouldn't I?" he agreed, wanting him to understand that she looked upon his affairs dispassionately.

"You don't appear to be a very good judge of women—it might be a good idea to leave them alone altogether. That is, of course, until you find the right girl some time far off in the future."

"I might not know she was the right girl even if I did find her." "Oh, you'll know her all right and still know you're the right man, too. There won't be any mistake about it on either side when the time comes. It may take years. So if I were you I wouldn't bother looking for—for anybody."

"The trouble is she might be O. K. with me, but I mightn't register with her myself."

"Don't worry—she won't be mistaken. You will arouse every bit of sympathy in her."

He laughed. "Sympathy! Say! A big guy like me, why should any girl sympathize with me?"

"She would," Ann declared.

"You'd stir up her maternal feeling just because you are so big and—well, I wouldn't say helpless, exactly—but you can understand what I mean. Most probably she'll love you because you'll need somebody to fuss around you and take care of you."

"I need that right now," Steve said. "At least I would like it if I could pick the girl."

"It's better to wait," Ann said.

"They passed a small neighborhood restaurant where only a few people were at the table—a quiet, home-like sort of place."

"Maybe you'll stop in here and get something with me," he urged.

"You have been working at the theatre tonight and you might like a sandwich or something."

She shook her head. "I'm sorry, but I promised Mr. Dunn I would go out tonight and go out somewhere."

"Oh!" Obviously he was unhappy. "Gee, I hate to let you go tonight. You know what I mean? There's things I'd like to talk over with you."

"I'm not so good at giving advice," Ann smiled.

"Don't kid yourself. You're the first girl I ever met that didn't seem to be handing me a line. Most of them think about themselves strictly. I don't know why, but I got a feeling if you was to advise me and tip me off I might know now to—well, be a different sort of guy. Do you think I might make something out of myself?"

"Of course, you could," she told him sympathetically.

"I think I could make good money in the ring—the kind of dough they pay those guys—guys that can take it and box a little clever at the same time. You ain't got

"Would you mind much, Jerry, if I did neither?"

"What do you mean?"

For a moment she debated whether she should tell him the truth or deceive him. Truth won. "If we are going to be friends, Jerry dear, we've got to be big enough to give elasticity to friendship. I want to break my date with you tonight because something more interesting has come up. You wanted to get me interested in things and in people didn't you?"

"Yes."

"Let Steve Harrison. He walked home with me from the theatre and he's waiting outside for me now. He wants to tell me the story of his life or something of the kind and I think it might be worth while for me to listen. His ideas are all tangled up and he thinks I might straighten them out."

"That big truck-driver never had an idea straight or tangled in his life," Jerry declared, swiftly disappointed. "Don't let people like that waste your time."

"You don't understand, Jerry," she protested. "I have got to make new contracts and learn about people."

"I was mistaken about you and I admit it frankly."

Just talking, I mean. It seems like you're putting me on the track of something that might help me a whole lot and I hate to let it slip by. I ain't never had the chance before to talk to a girl like you— you could do me a big favor."

Again Ann got that strange rippling feeling in her bosom that Steve sometimes aroused . . . a queer, sensitive tenderness.

"Don't take me too seriously," she said. "I am not as brainy as you think, but if I can help you I'd love to."

"If you could shake loose from that guy Jerry Dunn tonight—"

"Oh, I think Jerry will understand. Yes, Steve, I'll fix it. I'll talk to him for a while and meet you in a half hour on the steps outside the house."

He drew a long breath—almost in amazement. "What a girl— you're wonderful!"

The odd thing was that while tonight she had a novel pleasure in being with Steve Harrison it was a relief, nevertheless, to get away from him temporarily. Jerry Dunn, home unusually early from his newspaper work, was in his room with his feet on a table and a pipe in his mouth, a look of joy came over his face, cynical face at her appearance.

"We can either go out some place and have a bite or if you are not hungry we can sit right here and indulge in a little conversation of the soul," he said, eagerly appreciative of her.

"I have been looking forward all day to do—go out some place or sit here and chat the way?"

It was hard for her to dash his expectations. She hoped he would that can take it and box a little clever at the same time. You ain't got

"Of course, you could," she told him sympathetically.

Disheartening Diet.
The disheartening thing about the average diet regime is it does so much for the will power and so little for the waistline.—Detroit News.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth. Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Housewives! Which Benefit You Most?

Guard yourself against the wiles of the peddler. Too often, there is great disappointment in the goods bought. Or the housewife finds herself unsuspectingly "tricked" into a greater obligation than she contemplated. Or she never hears anything more after her "first deposit."

The peddler WANTS YOUR DOLLAR—that's all. There is no need for conscientious or honest service on his part.

On the other hand—

Your merchant is here in Circleville to stay. He knows that he can succeed only by gaining your confidence and good will—by selling you quality merchandise at honest prices, and, nine times out of ten—if you'll make value comparisons—you'll find his goods just as cheap and generally cheaper than the usual peddler "trash."

Your merchant is interested in your welfare. The taxes he pays and the contributions he makes help to give you and your families advantages that make for physical, educational, moral and civic progress.

Play fair with your merchants. They have invested heavily in Circleville because of their confidence in you. Keep that confidence intact by purchasing at home—where you get the most for your money.

PLAYERS OR COACH, THIS IS QUESTION

Subject to Argument Following Georgia Tech and Tennessee Victories.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—The season is ended, but the arguments linger on.

Save for those post-season invitation affairs which are the result of second guesses and retarded climate, football is finished for 1928.

But 1928 is not finished with football—not by any means. Wherever two or more fans and one or more pundits are gathered, the arguments go on, what though the gridirons lie deserted beneath winter's snows and goal posts are only souvenirs now.

Down in Atlanta, in a certain little upstairs room in the Atlanta athletic club, the members of the O. F. C. are toasting Bill Alexander, who gave Georgia Tech its finest football team of all time champions of the southern conference, unbeaten and untied and outstanding among all the eleven in the United States. And Bill, with that heart-warming grin and lazy drawl of his is probably saying:

HAD MATERIAL

"Just had the material, boys. That's all there was to it."

This question of whether a great football coach makes a great team or vice versa is once more the subject of one of the game's great arguments.

Knute Rockne, for instance, is telling the alumni of Notre Dame: "I am responsible for the team's poor showing this year. It wasn't the fault of the boys. They did their best."

"There you have it. But what have you?" If not the chicken but the egg came first, who laid it there? To have a successful football season in these days, a team must have a great coach and great material as well. The one cannot function without the other. The competition is too keen.

ALEXANDER CREDITED

Bill Alexander deserves all the credit in the world for the triumph of the Golden Tornado, which left off a final, victorious blast in defeating Georgia 20 to 6 and winning the southern conference title on Saturday. But Bill himself is modestly the first to ascribe a major portion of that credit to Captain Pund, his all-America center, to Wadley and Jones, the brilliant ends, to Speer, his great tackle, Drannon, one of the mightiest of southern guards, and to such backfield stars as Warner Mizell, Lumpkin and "Stumpy" Thompson.

Those men, gentlemen, are football players. But who taught them to be? Our old friend, Bill Alexander. In the final analysis, the coach is more important. Or maybe it's the material. If the chicken came first, what is the difference?

FLORIDA BEATEN

The 'Gators of Florida, unbeaten and untied until Saturday, went up to Knoxville 5 to 1 favorites over Tennessee, for wasn't major Neyland, the volunteers' coach, sick in bed with influenza? And hadn't he been laid up and away from his team for a week? And how could any football team expect to be at its best for the big game of the season under such a handicap?

It is not on record that Major Neyland called the tearful team to his bedside, and with one of those good old Rockne sob in his voice begged them to win for him on the morrow. But Tennessee went out without its coach and "tromped" all over the wild 'Gators, winning 13 to 12, and playing brainy football. In this case, of course, the ground-work had been well laid, for the Volunteers have only lost one game in the past three seasons.

Perhaps the material is of greater importance in football, after all. Or is it the coach?

COVINGTON, Ky., Dec. 10.—Frank Roach, 57, prominent horseman and familiar figure on race tracks throughout the country, died at his home here yesterday from heart disease. Roach had been ill for several months.

HABERDASHERS WIN

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 10.—The world famous Indians fell before the Columbus Haberdashers, champions of Ohio, 48 to 25, in the inaugural game of the professional basketball season here yesterday. The Indians were no match for the clothiers who were last year's state champions.

FIND STOLEN HOGS

Two hogs, stolen Friday night from the farm of Nick Fausnaugh in Cleercreek-twp, were found Saturday, already butchered and ready for market at a home nearby. The thieves, who are said to have been three in number, are not being prosecuted.

BAD CHECK PASSED

The local police department received a call from Adelphi Saturday about 4:30 p. m. that a young man passed a worthless check in that village for $28. The man was wearing a sheepskin coat, according to the report.

The One Name in RADIO

The cards have been dealt many times in radio. The deck has been shuffled many times. The names of manufacturers producing receivers for which impossible claims were made have flourished their little hour and faded into oblivion. The public allows to live only those manufacturers who are honest, capable, and make worthwhile products. Thus the name of Kolster has lasted, because behind that name is a record of honest merchandise and full value.

The new Kolsters carry on the tradition. Finer sets than ever before—finer cabinets than ever before—and more real value than ever before.

SURPRISE DINNER FOR WIFE'S BIRTHDAY

The birthday anniversary of Mrs. L. E. Miller was the occasion Sunday for a surprise dinner party at her home. Her husband, Mr. Miller, invited the guests and made arrangements so that the guest of honor should know nothing of the coming event. So it was that the guests gathered and completely surprised their hostess. The dinner was served at noon.

Mrs. Miller received many lovely gifts, which were birthday remembrances from her guests. These were present to enjoy the affair.

How pleasingly the pieces in this "Arts and Decoration" Group combine into "homey" groups in a room. Don't they suggest delightful "group-gifts" for the children to give the home? Or for parents to give married children for their homes?

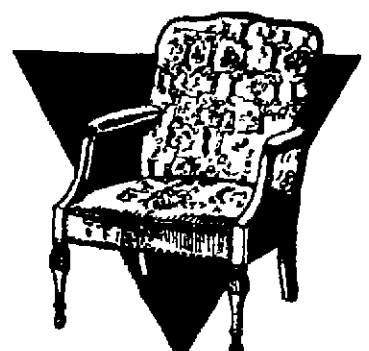

This leading authority on interior decoration chose this group as one which will add the utmost charm and up-to-the-minute style to the modern living room.

Select the whole group or any of the twelve pieces from it. Each one created by Berkey & Gay designers and made by the Grand Rapids Upholstering Company. Several are upholstered in genuine Ca-Vel, the nationally advertised "Velvets of Enduring Beauty."

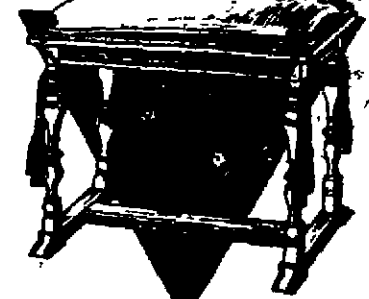

With this endorsement you can be sure they will please—that they will fit into almost every living room arrangement, and give a lifetime of satisfaction. Yet the prices are lower, as you will see, than you would pay for just ordinary gifts.
